TO: HEADS OF ALL FEDERAL DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

In June of 1984, Joint Committee on Printing staff visited Federal government printing and duplicating facilities in the State of Alaska. As a result of those visits, the Committee directed the Government Printing Office (GPO) to visit all Federal agencies in Alaska to determine how to improve printing support to the region. The GPO visits and survey of printing needs indicate that the majority of requirements can be met through a variety of competitive procurements from the private sector. With very few exceptions, such procurements can be accomplished more cost-effectively than through in-house production facilities.

For this reason, the Joint Committee requests that all departments and agencies with offices in Alaska, encourage those offices to begin or renew working with GPO's Regional Printing Procurement Office (RPPPO) located in Seattle, Washington. Initial contact can be made with Mr. Michael Atkins, Manager of the Seattle RPPPO, at (206) 764-3726.

Sincerely,

Charles McC. Mathias, Jr.
Chairman
